DEFER GIRLS' HOME PROGRAM UNTIL OCT. 8

APPOINT FIVE ON EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE AT TRUSTEE MEET

Frank Crook Company Offers Furniture for $10,254.

NEEDS OUTLINED
Leasing of Cafeteria Recommended by J. H.
Brookes.

Adoption of a definite program for furnishing the Mary A. Patterson Memorial Christian home for working girls, erected at a cost of $307,000 by the late Monroe Patterson, was deferred until Monday night, Oct. 8, at a general meeting of the trustees of the home association in the municipal courtroom last night.

Executive Committee Named.
D. M. Ogilvie, merchant; Harvey
McHenry, building contractor; J. S.
Hilbert, real estate and insurance broker; Mrs. Homer Taylor and Miss Florence Updegraff, former principal of the high school, were named members of an executive committee by Attorney J. H. Brookes, chairman of the trustees, after approval of the proposal.

In a letter read at the meeting, the Frank Crook company offered to furnish 60 beds, the lobby, office, reception and waiting rooms of the home for $10,254. It was estimated that the cost of mattresses, spreads, blankets and pillows would be $1,300 while $3,000 will be required for the other needs.

Tweed Submits Offer.
In the event the cafeteria is equipped, an additional $8,500 will be required, it was pointed out. Attorney Brookes recommended that the cafeteria should be leased.

The offer of Earl A. Tweed, owner of the National Furniture stores, to furnish the institution at cost plus freight charges was also submitted.

In the event that the home should be closed, all furniture would be returned to the donors, Brookes said in answer to a question.

Philadelphia's New Orang.
Philadelphia's Bootleggers.
What? Tax Churches.
Now? "Somnolentia."

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

AN orang-outang in Philadelphia is the first born in captivity in the United States. It weighed eight pounds and no company would insure it.
The only other orang born in captivity was killed by its mother in Berlin when two days old.

The annoying thing about this baby orang and others of the big apes is the fact that it has exactly the same number and kind of bones as your own body, and is put together much on the same plan.

It has been reasonably suggested that Satan arranged this in an effort to confuse good Christians and lead them into dangerous theories of evolution.

TWENTY-FOUR more policemen, including one captain and six sergeants, were locked up in Philadelphia Wednesday, in connection with bootlegging investigations.

The public should remember that these policemen represent corruption higher up, corruption among politicians, contempt for law among "respectables" and juries.

MAYOR WALKER of New York suggests taxing churches that preach politics. "Tax exemption in the case of churches," says he, "was made for religious purposes on the ground that their sole business was saving souls."

The mayor's theory may be sound, but it is dangerous to discuss taxes on religious property, amounting in the United States to many billions of dollars.

"Some 'Bolsheviks,' paying taxes on houses in which they raise children, might be only too ready to tax all churches and other religious properties."

It is easy to start a landslide, not so easy to stop it.

CHESTER KUTZLUB has found a better "excuse" for murder than the famous "dementia Americana."
Kutzlub calls his trouble "somno-

vasion of Gov. Al Smith's home state

ing an operation.

CANTON JANITOR FOILS YEGGMEN

CANTON, O., Sept. 28.—Arrival of the janitor, R. W. Johnstone, at the Canton Hardware company early this morning is believed to have frustrated an attempt to blow up the company's safe.

Two masked bandits bound and gagged Johnstone as he entered the store. While the robbers were in the basement with their victim, Johnstone heard a muffled explosion which proved to be nitro-glycerine set off by a time fuse attached to a battery, and intended to open the safe. The safe failed to open, however, and the bandits fled. Johnstone was discovered by a customer about a half hour later.

STEAL $30,000, KIDNAP PORTER

Mail Robbery in Railroad Station at Rahway, N. J.

RAHWAY, N. J., Sept. 28.—Securities and registered mail valued at $30-000 were stolen from the Pennsylvania railroad station here today and police are working on the theory that Josephine Van Cline, a porter, was kidnaped with the mail pouch containing the valuables.

Van Cline, employed to carry mail bags from the trains to mail trucks, could not be found after the theft was discovered.

West End Sports Lot
Will be Turned Over to Board of Education Tomorrow.

RAIN CARRIES NO THREAT OF MUD

Engineer J. R. Daugherty of Youngstown Announces Completion of Program for Year.

Transformed in the space of a few months from a sweep of barren, unattractive ground into one of the most beautifully designed athletic plants and playlots in eastern Ohio, the new Patterson Field will formally be turned over to the board of education, the public and the business of scholastic football at noon tomorrow.

Engineer J. R. Daugherty, Youngstown, who has given the project constant supervision, will put his O. K.
on the improvements. Immediately afterward a squad of school boys will line off the lot for the opening game of the school football team with Cleveland Holy Name high school.

Daugherty announced today that everything has been done with the playing field that can be done this year. Next spring the field will be re-scaffolded and seeded and other minor finishing touches applied.

Extensive Drainage System
Where, in other years, the present dry, sunshiny weather would have been regarded as a boon for the fall football program, Daugherty and school officials today were wishing for rain.

Main now will carry no threat of mud that in former years has, at times, made the west end lot a veritable quagmire, because of the extensive drainage system that spreads to all sections of the field like a huge skeleton buried underground.

Down the middle of the field, or at the extreme eastern edge of the main playing field is laid the central drainage pipe which pours into the culvert under the railroad track. At 15-foot intervals laterals branch off and swing under the main playing field to the cinder track on the far western side.
Across the inside edge of the cinder track is buried the pipe with drains at frequent intervals. This, in brief, is a description of the main field drainage.

Water Runs Off Field
Water does not sink into the ground to be drained away. It runs off the playing field into the drains around the edge of the field from a one-foot drop from the middle of the field to the sides. The drop is not noticeable, because of the level of the field.

U. S. NOTE HITS NAVAL PACT

Washington Declines to Accept Anglo-French Plan.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—The United States note dealing with the Anglo-French naval agreement declines to accept the Anglo-French proposals and suggests America's viewpoint as the basis of future negotiations, a high foreign office official declared this afternoon after reading the communication from Washington.

His statement follows:
"The American communication does not mean the end of disarmament hopes. Although America declines to accept the Anglo-French accord as the basis of future negotiations the note technically sets forth the American naval situation, suggesting it as the new basis for any further negotiations."

jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

Mrs. Oatman, a former French girl who met her husband while he was with the American army in France, walked from the court-

BRITISH TAILORS SEE MANLY MAN IN STYLE; BAN VIVID COLORS

LONDON.—Now that the boyish girl is to give way to the womanly woman, the manly man is to come into fashion again—according to British tailors.

"Vivid colors—sunshine yellow and purple blues—are to go," declares Rutherford Almond, to the National Federation of Merchant tailors. "All colors will be quieter. The darker shades of blues, grey, and brown will all be in demand, and where neat or faint checks are not used the old fancy weaves will be in favor again."

"Greens and Lovats are still a memory of the past."

"The one class of trade where latitude is allowed is in sports wear. The plus-four suit may be anything from a red Harris tweed through all shades of brown to the natural drab, and fancy may move where it likes in patterns of checks, diamonds or herring-bones."

GIANTS PROTEST CUBS' 3-2 WIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The New York Giants today entertained a remote hope that John A. Heydler, president of the National league, would uphold their protest that their first game with the Cubs yesterday, which the Cubs won by a score of 3 to 2, should be replayed because of a decision of Umpire Bill Klem.

When Reese was declared out at the plate in the sixth inning, the Giants claimed that Catcher Hartnett of the Cubs had tackled the New York player and held him while Beck rushed up with the ball and tagged him. Klem denied the claims and was supported by the other umpires.

President Heydler had not received the New York club's official protest on the incident early today. He said that upon receiving it he would rule on it immediately.

DRY OFFICERS FIRE ON TWO LORAIN AUTOS

Second Attack Revealed After British Girl is Wounded.

SHOT IN SKULL

Miss Betty Heywood, 22, in Critical Condition.

LORAIN, O., Sept. 28.—A wave of popular indignation over the tactics employed by three enforcement officers who on Wednesday night shot and seriously wounded Miss Betty Heywood, 22-year-old British girl, of Elyria, was rising here today as another motorist reported that he too was fired on the same night.

Stephen Ketting said that he drove his car through a shower of bullets at the 31st street bridge, at the city limits, shortly after 11 o'clock. At Sheffield village he reported the incident to Marshal John Elden. The marshal said he investigated but on learning that prohibition officers were stationed at the bridge, decided to take no action.

A few minutes later a small sedan of the same type as Ketting's crossed the bridge. The three officers declared they had a "tip" that a truckload of liquor was scheduled to arrive, conveyed by a car of that type.

Three Shots Fired. The second automobile was driven by Charles Edwards and occupied by his wife, their four-year-old daughter, Betty Rose, Miss Heywood and her father, Richard Heywood. When the officers commanded the car to stop, Edwards' wife, fearing a holdup, urged him to drive away.

Three shots were fired at the machine, according to reports, and Miss Heywood slumped down with a bullet wound at the base of her skull. Edwards then stopped his car and one of the three officers, Louis Cicco, came alongside. When informed that Miss Heywood had been shot he advised that she be taken to a hospital, according to other occupants of the machine, but gave them no directions.

The three officers, Cicco and Walter Knitter, patrolmen on the city police force, and Frank Kledy, a deputy sheriff, were all placed under arrest and suspended, when the shooting reached the attention of authorities yesterday morning. The three were held to the grand jury on charges of shooting with intent to wound and released under $1,500 bond each.

Mayor Organized Squad. Mayor J. C. Standen, who established the liquor squad of which the three men were members, said today that he would not personally condemn the officers' action but would investigate further. He said if the three were convicted he might discontinue his dry squad, though he thought it had proven a success.

Knitter and Kledy charge that Cicco fired the shots and he has not denied it. Cicco returned to the point where they were stationed beside the bridge, after walking alongside the automobile, and told them that Miss Heywood had been only slightly hurt, the other two said. Knitter said he suggested that they all go to headquarters at once and report but that his companions advised that they wait until morning.

Miss Heywood was still in a critical condition today. Physicians have not determined whether her skull is fractured. Her father, a native of Jarrow-on-the-Tyne, England, who plans to take out citizenship papers in November, is employed by the National Tube company. He came to this country four years ago and Betty and her elder sister, Anne, joined him at his new home in Elyria in the spring of 1927.

Father Puzzled Over Shooting. ELYRIA, O., Sept. 28.—Betty Heywood, who is in a hospital at Lorain with a bullet wound in her head inflicted by a prohibition agent, is a British girl.

She and her sister, Anne, came here in April of 1927 to join their father who has been in America four years and who has planned to be naturalized this winter. The father, Richard Heywood, expressed himself as much puzzled over American law enforcement methods today.

"I would never have thought such a thing possible in America," was his comment.

Passenger automobiles and trucks exported from Canada the first half of this year were valued at $12,544,269.

Prying Off Football Lid

While baseball fans are keeping an eye on scoreboards in the hectic wind-up of the races to determine the winners of the National and American league pennants and the selection of competing teams in the world's series, East Liverpool will pry off the football lid tomorrow.

Marking, in a sense, the dedication of the new playing field in the West End sports center made possible through the generosity of the late Monroe Patterson, pottery and foundry owner, the Ceramic City high school squad, tutored by Joseph Hurst, will usher in the gridiron season by matching brains, brawn and muscle against the Holy Name eleven of Cleveland.

Undaunted by the defeat at the hands of McKinley high school in Canton last Saturday, the Blue and White team expects to redeem itself in its initial battle before home town fans. And if confidence means anything, the Hurstmen will repeat their performance of last year when they downed the Forest City gliders by one touchdown.

Thus the thud of the pigskin and the shrill whistle of the referee will supplant the crack of the spheroid and the decisions of the umpire insofar as East Liverpool sportdom is concerned, at least until the baseball classic gets under way next Thursday. For the curtain will drop on the regular baseball season on Sunday.

And notwithstanding the hold the diamond pastime has on the public, football is firmly entrenched. Attendance figures indicate it has had a marked growth in popularity during the last few years. Last season, 30,000,000 people attended games, university classics drawing, on occasions, larger throngs than the world's series of baseball. And, too, there is more of the playing for glory than the pay envelope in football, for the young fellows are battling for the love of the game.

Up and at 'em, Hurstmen! East Liverpool is with you.

Rubber Production.

Recent attacks at Geneva upon the labor policies of the Firestone Plantations company, in Liberia, and present preparations for opening up Henry Ford's 3,700,000-acre concession in the Amazon valley, have drawn public attention in the United States to the operations in foreign countries of American concerns requiring large supplies of crude rubber.

The Ford and Firestone concessions are the two largest enterprises undertaken to date to provide American consumers with rubber grown on American plantations abroad. These plantations, in contrast with other American rubber-growing projects, include grants or power by the contracting government which go far beyond the growing of rubber itself.

Questions arising in connection with the exercise of those powers and the exploitation of other American rubber holdings abroad seem likely in the future to receive a steadily increasing amount of attention from students of international problems.

Proposals for establishment of American-owned rubber plantations in tropical countries first attracted wide attention in 1923, following inauguration of the Stevenson plan for restriction of British rubber production, undoubtedly undertaken with the idea of making American motorists, in effect, pay the British war debt to the United States.

British planters in Malaya and other Asiatic colonies, producing more than half of the world's supply of crude rubber, were confronted after the war with a severe depression in rubber prices. Falling in an attempt to come to an agreement with planters in the Dutch East Indies, who produce most of the non-British supply, the British producers decided, in 1922, to go it alone in a general plan to restrict output.

With inauguration of the Stevenson plan for restriction, rubber prices entered on a rapid advance. In the United States, this advance was attributed solely to the British restriction of output, although an increase in the world demand for rubber and feverish speculation by brokers and others undoubtedly were factors of importance in bringing about reversal of the price movement of several preceding years.

American tire manufacturers went into conference with President Harding early in 1923, and shortly thereafter Secretary of Commerce Hoover began a long, far-reaching investigation of the whole subject. He evolved a cooperative plan of action, and it succeeded. The British monopoly was broken. It was compelled to back down. It was the handwriting on the wall. Rubber prices tumbled to their proper level.

While production from American-owned plantations still is relatively small, these plantations are expected in the near future to supply a large proportion of American consumption. The United States Rubber company, which in 1926, produced about 25 per cent of its own consumption, expects to increase this eventually to about 30 per cent. The eventual production by Ford and Firestone cannot now be estimated.

The League of Nations, taking unkindly to the idea of American independence of action in this, as in all other matters, has requested an inquiry by a league commission and prominent league members have made sharp criticism of the policy here at home of supporting American rubber plantations in tropical countries.

Honor Newton D. Baker

When Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, was secretary of war ten years ago he was recommended by a board of officers for the distinguished service cross. When the finding came before him he ordered his name stricken from the list. That was commendable modesty.

But now Mr. Baker's name has been reinstated. He is not now secretary of war. And the distinguished service cross has been awarded him.

The only comment is one of regret that so manifestly deserved reward of merit should have been so long delayed. Here is an Ohioan who did valiant duty in a most trying period of the country's life, and his praises have gone unsung. In future years he will be recognized as a secretary of war who may have been small in stature, but who bulked huge in mental equipment and organizing ability.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—In Alaska, the most northern land in the far-flung territorial line of the United States, the airplane is put to greater use in proportion to the population than anywhere else in the world. Supplies are whisked through the air instead of being poled laboriously in boats or hauled by dogs. Gold dust and the exquisite purchases of fur-buyers are so transported. Traveling salesmen save time in making their rounds by flying and big game hunters fly to the habitat of the animals which attract them to the hunt. In this land of great distances and limited transportation facilities the airplane brings distant communities into unity and expedites business and affairs.

The radio, too, adds its touch of modernity to the land the very name of which breathes romance. The recent establishment of radio communication over a distance of 800 miles by the signal corps in fifty-one hours recalls the fact that twenty-nine years ago it required three years to connect stations separated by 500 air miles. Here again the airplane has a part.

Education in Alaska receives unique assistance. The U. S. S. Boxer, owned by the bureau of education, flies back and forth from Alaska to the states carrying personnel and supplies for the schools. When a schoolhouse for Eskimos at Point Barrow was burned, materials were sent up with a boss carpenter to construct a new one. Eskimo boys, expert craftsmen who attained their skill making sleds, received practical training in the manual arts by assisting in the rebuilding. More than $300,000 of federal and territorial money is invested in the physical equipment of the agricultural college and school of mines of Alaska. It has departments which compare with those of colleges in the United States, agriculture, business administration, chemistry, civil engineering, general science, home economics, and mining.

It is amazing to think that two years after a war which had wrought internal havoc and brought fratricidal conflict to the United States statesmen were sufficiently alert to purchase Alaska. It is equally amazing that in 1867 a country one-fifth the size of the United States was purchased for $7,200,000 in gold. Although at that time it was considered mostly ice waste and its potentialities had not been revealed, that was a small sum to pay for land which is spread from east to west as far as the distance from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and has a depth nearly equal to that from Canada to Mexico.

Alaska does the greater part of its trading with the United States. It has been estimated that the states sends 97.12 per cent of the imports and take 98.12 per cent of the exports. The leading products are salmon and copper which total more than half the exports. Gold and furs are others which help to bring the annual total up to $80,000,000. Commodities both for personal and industrial use, comprise the importations from the United States.

Nearly $75,000,000 has been invested in the fisheries, the first industry to be developed in Alaska. It furnishes employment for about one-half the population. Salmon is the only fish which can be translated into dollars, being, halibut, clams, whales, cod, shrimps, and crabs bring considerable returns.

The Alaska railroad, which was first run at a profit last December, makes possible increased activity in agriculture as well as in industry. It is estimated that 100,000 square miles are capable of agricultural development and that with increased highways, railways, industries, and population, profitable farming can be gradually brought about. It is pointed out that for years to come agriculture must depend on local markets and that only farmers who are accustomed to hard work should buck this climate where a little capital of money and a large capital of muscle, determination, and perseverance are requisites. There are four agricultural experiment stations engaged in the task of discovering what cereals and vegetables are suited to the climate and developing new varieties which will prove more profitable.

It is customary to think of the climate of Alaska in terms of the North Pole, but arctic conditions obtain only in the section bordering the polar sea. Along the Pacific coast the climate is comparable to that of Scotland and Scandinavia with a slight tendency to be warmer. Inland it is similar to that of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba. Snowfall ranges from six to thirty feet.

In a census which was made at the time of year that would include only permanent residents and not take into consideration the summer migrations of miners, cannery employees, tourists, and others, a total population of more than 55,000 was shown, of which nearly 28,000 were white.

This growing, thriving territory has almost the rights of a state. With executive powers vested in a governor, it has a legislature of two houses to make laws subject to the approval of congress. In addition a delegate is elected there to represent the territory at the capitol in Washington. He does not have a vote, but he does share with congressmen the privilege that makes the congressional record the sizable and significant chronicle that it is—he has the privilege of the floor and may enter into debate.

Questions And Answers

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Q. Upon what dates were the presidential candidates notified in 1924? J. M. A.

A. President Coolidge was notified of his nomination 1924, Washington, D. C., August 14; John W. Davis, Clarksburg, W. Va., August 11; Charles Bryan, Lincoln, Neb., August 18; Charles Gates Dawes, Evanston, Ill., August 19.

Q. Are the fish in Lake Baikal of Arctic variety? D. D. S.

A. Fish in Lake Baikal are not typical of Arctic ocean variety. They are more like the fish fauna of the north temperate region in general; but, in detail they are peculiar to Lake Baikal because that lake has been isolated for long eons of time and therefore has developed a fauna peculiar to itself.

Q. How far north does telephone communication extend in the Western Hemisphere? L. S. C.

A. The northernmost telephone pole in the Western Hemisphere is at Noorvik, Alaska. The line is maintained by the government.

Q. Why does a waltzing mouse dance? L. H. S.

A. A waltzing mouse waltzes because the balancing apparatus of the inner ear of the mouse is imperfect, causing the animal to turn constantly in short circles. This defect is strongly fixed and transmitted with regularity to the young.

Turning Back Pages of Memory

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—In Alaska, the most northern land in the far-flung territorial line of the United States, the airplane is put to greater use in proportion to the population than anywhere else in the world.

Supplies are whisked through the air instead of being poled laboriously in boats or hauled by dogs. Gold dust and the exquisite purchases of fur-buyers are so transported. Traveling salesmen save time in making their rounds by flying and big game hunters fly to the habitat of the animals which attract them to the hunt. In this land of great distances and limited transportation facilities the airplane brings distant communities into unity and expedites business and affairs.

The radio, too, adds its touch of modernity to the land the very name of which breathes romance. The recent establishment of radio communication over a distance of 800 miles by the signal corps in fifty-one hours recalls the fact that twenty-nine years ago it required three years to connect stations separated by 500 air miles. Here again the airplane has a part.

Education in Alaska receives unique assistance. The U. S. S. Boxer, owned by the bureau of education, flies back and forth from Alaska to the states carrying personnel and supplies for the schools. When a schoolhouse for Eskimos at Point Barrow was burned, materials were sent up with a boss carpenter to construct a new one. Eskimo boys, expert craftsmen who attained their skill making sleds, received practical training in the manual arts by assisting in the rebuilding. More than $300,000 of federal and territorial money is invested in the physical equipment of the agricultural college and school of mines of Alaska. It has departments which compare with those of colleges in the United States, agriculture, business administration, chemistry, civil engineering, general science, home economics, and mining.

It is amazing to think that two years after a war which had wrought internal havoc and brought fratricidal conflict to the United States statesmen were sufficiently alert to purchase Alaska. It is equally amazing that in 1867 a country one-fifth the size of the United States was purchased for $7,200,000 in gold. ## NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Thoughts while strolling: Nothing can become so obsolete as a hotel. A man in full evening dress at noon. That's staying out. Edwin Balmer, editor of the Red Book. The traffic tower windows were washing. Dilapidated auto with card: "Any price over $10 and I'm yours."

Something wholesome looking about a minister or a priest. John K. Winkler, who wrote the book, "Hearst." Rarely see widows' bonnets any more. Policemen who always twirl their whistles. A sad-eyed Great Dane in a rumble seat. A soft drink saloon with swinging doors and a sawdust floor.

A good savings bank motto: "Save First—Then Buy." So few do it that way. Fewer Chinese laundries these days. Nothing makes a man look so disheveled as a tie band slipping over his collar. George Jean Nathan, a F. Wayne, Ind., boy who made good in the city.

The immense trade at delicatessen shops. What's become of Turnverein Halls? Those red-faced women with British accents and mannish ways you always find at a tea. Lew Field's son Herbert. The prettiest girls in a New York department store are found at the glove counter.

Harry Frazee. And Edgar Selwyn. The negro cabman who wears a rabbit's foot in his hatband. The spooky desolation of a building before it is turned over to wreckers. Why are there no "haunted" houses in cities? Those calloped motor horns wailing like lost souls.

Seems to be a slump in jazz orchestras. The Bowery hotel clerk who made a killing on a long shot and is spending it on Broadway. Sign: "Expert Nail Bleaching." What in the world is that? And a window full of tadpoles with a sign: "The tadpole reminds us." Of what, for instance?

That beautiful actress who is always chewing gum. And on the stage she has a broad A. Pretty tea room waitresses in printed gowns. Ray Goetz whose office was decorated by Urban and who has fresh coffee on tap for visitors.

Other Editors Say

Rural Health Service Deficient.

According to a statement just issued by the United States public health service, about 80 per cent of the rural population of the country is without any adequate provision for care of the public health. This situation is aggravated by the growing lack even of physicians in private practice in the rural districts and small villages. If it were not for the improvement of roads and the presence of automobiles, giving easier access to the physicians and hospitals in the cities, the situation would be even more serious than it is.

The immediate remedial suggestion of the federal health service is the more general development of county health boards, with a well-qualified full-time health officer in each county. Including counties and other rural districts not following county lines, there are only a little over four hundred such organized rural health units, with full-time health officers, at the present time. There are nearly 2,000 rural counties, or districts comparable to counties, for which this type of public health organization is applicable but does not exist.

In no small share of these counties, the cost of such health work could be borne locally with no great burden, and the gain in health would make it a profitable investment. In many cases, however, state aid would apparently be required, and would appear to

Terrified Motorist Jumps to His Death

Fearing Crash, Man
Leaps in Path of Interurban Car Near Bowling Green.

BOWLING GREEN, O., Sept. 28.—John Wolf, 26, Cowans Branch, Va., was dead here today, the result of a terrified leap from an automobile into the path of a Toledo, Bowling Green and Southern traction interurban car. Wolf, riding in a coupe with N. C. Bellamy, Kingsport, Tenn., and another man whose name was not learned, became frightened as the automobile and interurban car approached the traction crossing at about the same time. He leaped out over the machine and landed, falling directly in front of the interurban which struck him, killing him instantly and dragging him 50 feet along the track. The other two men stayed in the automobile and were unhurt when it passed over the crossing by a safe margin.

ing accomplished by what the engineer terms a vertical parabola. In other words, it is not a straight fall from middle to side, but a sweeping convex curve. The track, being of cinder construction, aids in the effectiveness of the system.

Finishing touches will be applied to the track today and tomorrow. The course measures 1 foot on the straight-aways and 10 on the curves, which will be suitably banked.

Culvert construction has been completed with the exception of the man-hole just off the railroad tracks. And this manhole is the key to the control of the drainage system.

Purposes of System.

It will serve three purposes: First, to drain off surface water into the culvert.

Second, to sub-irrigate the field by impounding enough water to form an underground reservoir in the pipes, beneath the playing field, regulated automatically by a fixed dam in the man-hole.

Third, to provide flood protection. The man-hole will be of square concrete construction, about 10 feet square and 15 feet high. The upper section of the structure which will, of course, be visible at all times, will be attractively built on monumental order.

Sub-irrigation is advised for the hot summer months in order that the playing field will not become too hard under the baking heat of the sun. Moisture from the underground pipes will serve to counteract the effects of the heat.

Full flood protection is promised by Daugherty by the mechanism of the man-hole.

Flood Prevention Plan.

In the middle of the man-hole will be erected a partition, of concrete, which will stand as high as the surface of the Fourth street extension. There will be a gate or trap on the end of the main drain from the playing field which, when the water from the river backs up, will automatically close, shutting off back-flow.

However, if the river rises to such an extent that the Fourth street extension will be covered, the man-hole also will take care of this contingency. This is why the partition in the man-hole will be kept at the height of the Fourth street extension. When the water reaches that height it will flow over the extension, naturally, and, at the same time, flow over the interior partition in the man-hole. It will back up the main drain, spread out in the laterals and gradually flowing into the field from the open drains.

In this way, the engineer points out, the field, instead of being flooded with a gush of water and debris of all sorts from adjoining ground, will be flooded slowly and naturally by its own drainage system.

Drainage of Practice Field.

Practice field will be drained by the same system, the water flowing off the surface to the main drain. This field is being graded and scraped now and will be given as much attention as possible before work on the field is stopped this fall.

The track will furnish athletes with a quarter-mile jaunt.

In the summer there will be accommodations for baseball, recreation ball, tennis and a children's playlot, according to Daugherty's plans.

Arrangements for Baseball

Local baseball fans who are familiar with the layout at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, can quickly grasp the plan that will be followed at Patterson Field for arrangements for the summer sport.

The home plate will be located at what might be called the northwest corner of the field, near the greenhouses and the first base line, naturally, will extend down the south side of the field toward the river and directly in front of the grandstand.

Neither batter nor pitcher will be looking directly into the sun's rays.

It will be possible, Daugherty says, for the operation of four recreation or "softball" games on the field at one time, with the smaller diamonds laid out in each corner of the acreage.

Up on the first level on what was the old dump, near the Shelleville property, will be four tennis courts and a playground for smaller children will be constructed on the West Eighth street level, off from the main entrance.

Tennis Courts and Playground

The tennis courts and playground are just "in the rough" at present but possibly next summer will become material parts of the whole.

With construction details taken care of, it is the object of the board of education, according to President Fred Glenn, to begin the task of beautifying the plant as much as possible. Trees planted around the edge of the field will aid in this work to a great extent and will also serve effectively in cutting off the view through or over the wire fence, which at present extends entirely around the field with exception of a small portion near the Smiley greenhouses which will be attractively landscaped.

Suggests Concrete Stands.

Fence at the west side of the field has been fixed so that it can be removed when grandstands are erected there and used to inclose the children's playground.

Daugherty suggests the construction of concrete grandstands in 60-foot units. His plans call for the building of two units in the center with provisions for dressing rooms under them. Additional units can then be extended to either side. Plans of this nature have been accepted by the board although the steel type of construction also was considered.

Should there be no heavy rain before tomorrow's football game, the practice field, just off the Fourth street extension, will be used for a parking field for automobiles. In the event of rain Daugherty announces its use for parking will not be permitted because of the possibility of "rutting" the surface.

The main entrance will be in West Eighth street. A brick ticket booth is being built there today and pastboards will be sold through its windows for tomorrow's games, if all goes well in the construction.

Fans will occupy temporary wooden bleachers on the west side of the field. These bleachers will seat approximately 800. It is the plan to build the proposed permanent stands the distance of the field with seating capacity for about 3,400.

SALARY OF $3,600

John T. Wood Serves Pending Regular Appointment.

The United States civil service commission today announced an open competitive examination to fill the vacancy in the East Liverpool postmaster-ship, caused by the death of J. Edwin McClure.

John T. Wood, former president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, is now acting postmaster, having been named by Postmaster New pending the examination.

Postmaster McClure, who succeeded the late M. E. Miskall, died Nov. 16, 1927.

Application for the place must be filed with the civil service commission at Washington. The office pays an annual salary of $3,600.

According to an announcement, the examination will not be held under the civil service act and rules, but under an executive order, issued May 10, 1921, and Nov. 5, 1926, which provides as follows:

"When a vacancy exists or hereafter occurs in the position of postmaster at an office of the first, second, or third class, if such vacancy is not filled by nomination of some person with in the competitive classified civil service who has the required qualifications, then the postmaster general shall certify the fact to the civil service commission, which shall forthwith hold an open competitive examination to test the fitness of applicants to fill such vacancy, and when such examination has been held and the papers in connection therewith have been rated, the said commission shall certify the results thereof to the postmaster general, who shall submit to the president the name of one of the highest three qualified eligibles for appointment to fill such vacancy, unless it is established that the character or residence of any such applicant disqualifies him for appointment; provided, that at the expiration of the term of any person appointed to such position through examination before the civil service commission, the postmaster general may, in his discretion, submit the name of such person to the president for reappointment without further examination.

Under an executive order issued on June 22, 1928, the maximum age requirement for first, second and third class postmaster examinations has been raised to 65 years.

SMITH FEEDS DISCORD FIRES IN MINNESOTA

Democratic Nominee Praises Roosevelt and La Follette.

LAUDS SHIPSTEAD

Governor Discards His Manuscript in Bid for Votes.

By George R. Holmes

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 28.—On the last lap of his western tour, Gov. Al Smith left the Twin Cities today en route for Milwaukee, where he will speak tomorrow night. He will reach Milwaukee late tonight.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 28.—Governor Smith has fed the fires of Republican discord during his 24-hour visit to the politically doubtful state of Minnesota.

The Democratic nominee may or may not carry the state in November, but even the regular Republicans admit he has made infinitely more difficult the task of the G. O. P. in this state this year.

The Farmer-Labor party, which first elected Magnus Johnson to the United States Senate and then followed it up with the present Senator Hendrik Shipstead, has fused with the Democratic party wholeheartedly.

Praises Lowden.

Into such a situation, Gov. Smith stepped last night with a speech designed particularly for Minnesota consumption and ten thousand people in St. Paul's municipal auditorium literally ate it up.

Within the space of 30 minutes, Gov. Smith praised the records of the elder Roosevelt, the elder La Follette, of Senator Shipstead, of Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, and Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, whose candidacy for the nomination at the Kansas City convention the Minnesota delegation backed to the last gasp.

He quoted Roosevelt against "invisible government" he recalled that both La Follette and Roosevelt had left the Republican party to found their own progressive organizations; he said: "Senator Shipstead also had to 'take a walk.' He quoted Senator Norris in praise of his Smith's Omaha speech, and he praised Gov. Lowden as one of the cleanest Republican thinkers on the subject of farm relief.

"Talks Turkey" to Crowd.

All this was no accident. It was a direct bid for the old Progressive vote of Minnesota, which expressed itself four years ago in the shape of 333,000 votes for the La Follette third party ticket. The five Republicans named by Gov. Smith are conceded to have great followings in Minnesota.

Solemn and satirical by turns, Gov. Smith literally stood ten thousand people on their chairs last night when he discarded his manuscript and talked informally to the thousands who, within and without, jammed the St. Paul auditorium. The governor did not attempt to follow his text. Instead, he cast it aside, and as he himself expressed it, "talked turkey," to the crowd.

His Governmental Leadership.

The governor said he was in favor of giving the people "the low down on Washington," which, he asserted, President Coolidge has not done; he asked his audience to compare the governmental leadership of today with that existing under Roosevelt and Wilson; he demanded to know why La Follette and Roosevelt left their party to found a third party. He accused Coolidge and Hoover of "lack of leadership." In solving the farm problem he ridiculed the Republican platform in a dozen spots. He named both President Coolidge and Secretary Hoover as evasive on the real issues, and he wound up his speech with a challenge to his hearers to be faithful to the principles of Roosevelt and La Follette rather than the principles of Hoover and Coolidge.

Today Gov. Smith will invade Wisconsin. Tomorrow night he will speak in Milwaukee, probably on prohibition. The governor is scheduled to leave St. Paul at 11 a. m. for a leisurely day journey through Wisconsin, with arrival in Milwaukee tomorrow night.

Wisconsin is the veritable heart of the La Follette country. Four years ago La Follette carried Wisconsin over Coolidge by 140,000. The political history of the state behind that is checkered. Harding carried it in 1920; Hughes in 1916, and Wilson in 1912.

"SOCIETY BOOTER" GETS SALTY DOSE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—Branding him a "professional criminal," Federal Judge Oliver B. Dickinson today sentenced Joel D. Kerr, "society bootlegger" to 15 months in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., and fined him $20,000.

lentia," and says he killed his wife while walking in his sleep.

If Kutzub's lawyer can convince a jury that gentlemen walking in their sleep can fire a pistol accurately, murder in the United States will become a pastime less dangerous than ever.

GOV. FULLER, of Massachusetts, tells women's clubs in New England, "If you deplore conditions in Russia, remember that every bit of corruption in public life is a contribution to that same Socialism."

The ladies whom he addressed perhaps asked themselves "if corruption did not promote Socialism, would there be any harm in it?"

The learned Will Rogers says, "Corruption and golf are two things we might just as well make up our minds to take up, for they are both going to be with us."

But perhaps, if corruption actually does promote Socialism, Americans will think seriously about it.

It would never do to promote Socialism.

IT will take at least $29,000,000 to give any adequate relief in the Porto Rico, Virgin Islands and Florida tornadoes. New York, richest city in the world, had Wednesday raised $452,156 for the Red Cross relief fund.

Why waste time on Red Cross dribbles, to say nothing of Red Cross expense?

The richest government in the world, that sent Europe ten billions of dollars to help foreigners kill each other, should find a few millions to help its own people.

THE German air company, Lufthansa, announces for next year a flying time from Berlin to Peking, of two and one-half days, and to Tokio three and one-half days.

Continents are coming closer together. For Moscow to attack New York effectively now would be easier than it was for Napoleon to attack London at the beginning of the last century.

Uncle Sam should take warning.

WALL STREET was cheerful Wednesday with the price of "call money" reduced to 6 per cent, only about double what money costs for stock exchange operations in Paris.

A while ago the rate was 9 per cent and lenders must be sad.

To lend at 6 per cent depositors' and stockholders' money that draws no interest must be a financial hardship.

And to make it worse $5,000,000 in gold, coming from London, may make it even more difficult to maintain our artificial reign of usury.

ANOTHER play is produced in New York with unnecessary propriety. Why must blasphemy and profanity, no longer used by self-respecting men, be perpetrated on the stage?

Decent men have given up spitting tobacco juice, as they once did in this country. Nobody would write a tobacco juice spitting play. Why write plays made indecent by cursing?

G. O. P. DRIVE FOR FEMINIST VOTE LAUNCHED

National Committee Seeks Support of Women.

CREATE BUREAUS

Herbert Hoover Works Upon Elizabethton Speech.

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON. WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The national drive to corral the American feminist vote for Herbert Hoover was in full swing today with the completion of an organization to win the votes of business and professional women.

The efforts of the Republican national committee to win the support of women in this campaign exceed anything ever attempted in any previous presidential race. With the entire women's organization under the direction of Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the committee, separate bureaus were created to win different groups of women. The last of these bureaus, for the solicitation of business women's votes, was completed with the naming of state leaders in sixteen states.

These women will carry the Hoover campaign to women lawyers, physicians, teachers, nurses, shop-owners and clerical workers. Among the state leaders just named were: Mrs. Helen M. Schluraff, of Erie, Pennsylvania; and Mrs. Kathleen A. Courtney, of Fairmont, for West Virginia.

Cards Regain One-Game Lead as M'Grawmen Lose

Lick Boston as Giants Split Double With Cubs; Yanks Virtually in "as Result of Two-ply Victory.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Just between one blindfold tester and another, it is the writer's disquieting story this morning that five things still can happen to the comical situation in the National league before its conclusion, three games and two days hence. It simply isn't my fault, either that about six or seven of them can happen to John McGraw. He blocked his own "counter" very deftly with the Cubs yesterday when he failed to bring his Giants home to anything better than a cut down the middle with the Cubs while the Cardinals were running all over the Braves up in Boston. As one result, the Cards again were one game in front this morning, this time with only three to play. As another, the Giants now find that they must take the next two from the Cubs in order to be certain of making Sunday's final with the Cards mean the slightest thing at the pay off.

So much for the National league. The Yankees twice defeated the Tigers yesterday. So little for the American. The circumstances just about placed the Yanks in the position of being dornle two and a half. If I fail to make myself clear, it will mean about a quarter of a million to the Yankees, for it almost assured them of the pennant.

Two and a half games in front, with only three to play, they are in the unenvied position of needing only one more victory for themselves or one more defeat for the Athletics to make the matter definite and official.

But the National league strength drive still goes merrily onward.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 28.—New Athletic fields will be formally dedicated by two Ohio colleges tomorrow, one by Capital university here, and the other by St. Xavier at Cincinnati.

Capital university's grid warriors meet Baldwin-Wallace on their new field which has been named Capital field by alumni. A record crowd is expected for the dedication exercises, and the game itself promises to be worth the money.

St. Xavier's Musketeers knock heads with the strong Transylvania college Pioneers, opening the new $300,000 stadium completed the past summer.

The Kentuckians have won two games this season in as many goes, and scouts declare they have an aerial attack hard to beat.

The Yanks have lost three games in a row before, of course, but are not likely to do so at this stage of the party.

Rube Walberg is ready to carry the A's standard into battle today. Earl Whitehill appears to be Detroit's best bet to stop the Yanks; Manager Huggins was undecided whether to pitch Pipgras, Zachary or Johnson.

Annoyed by his ailing knee, Babe Ruth yesterday decided to overcome this handicap by the simple expedient of knocking the ball out of the lot so that he could trot around to the home plate at his leisure; homers No. 51 and 52 were the result.

While Ruth's emergence from his hitting slump increased New York's chances of victory in the pennant race and in the world series, the club's hospital list was augmented by an injury to Earl Combs, center fielder. He crashed against a concrete wall and sprained his right wrist.

The Yanks took twelve out of twenty-two games with the Tigers this year and have captured their season's series with every club in the league. No team in the National league can boast of a similar record.

Eleven brothers named Herbert acted as pierrot stewards at a recent charity fete at Worthing, England.

District Gridders In Action

Etna at Wellsville; Newell at Chester; Brighton at Midland.

District high school football teams, without exceptions, will show their stuff before home fans as the season gets under way in fall swing tomorrow afternoon.

Headed by the East Liverpool-Cleveland Holy Name game here, the card includes Etna at Wellsville, Newell at Chester and New Brighton at Midland.

The Orange and Black at Wellsville, ancient rivals of the Blue and White, will appear for the first time under the guiding hand of Coach Dave Evans, who led his Miamisburg eleven to a Miami valley championship last year. Evans succeeds Earl Kinck.

The Wellsville eleven, too, has been hard hit by graduation and, on the whole, will probably be considerably lighter than the 1927 edition.

Led by Captain Snowden, the squad has been working diligently for several weeks, including even a few Saturday practices and is confident of turning in a win in the opening tilt of the season against the Pennsylvanians.

Newell at Chester.

The two West Virginia teams will have a feud all their own at Smith Field, Chester. Newell, under the coaching of Nate Lora, will go into action against the Chesterites who also have a new grid mentor this fall, Paul Keightley, of W. & J.

It will be the first game of the season for Chester, the second for Newell, which last Saturday lost at East Palestine, 36-0.

It is really the first season in which Newell has undertaken football on an extensive scale. Ten dates have been set aside for grid encounters.

In addition to the East Palestine game last Saturday and the Chester game tomorrow, the Newell card includes contests as follows: Oct. 5, at Ironside; Oct. 13, East Liverpool Reserves; Oct. 20, open; Oct. 26 at Weirton; Nov. 3, open; Nov. 10, New Cumberland; Nov. 16 at Sallenville; Nov. 23, Ironside.

New Brighton at Midland.

With the addition of three games the Lincoln high schedule has been completed and now presents the Crucibles with plenty of action from good opponents who may pave the way for a class B championship in the W. P. I. A. L.

Coach Lomond and his squad are ready for the opener tomorrow with

GENE MAKES HIS PRESENCE KNOWN

CHICAGO 3-0, New York 2-2. (Delayed in transmission)—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, who has been making a tour of southern France by foot and motor car, arrived in this town with a bang last night. Driving a 40-horse power motor car at sixty miles an hour he wheezed up in front of the Hotel De Provence, crashing into another automobile that was just leaving the hotel courtyard.

Both cars were badly damaged, but neither Tunney nor the driver of the other automobile was injured.

Face Tough Opposition In Cleveland Combine

Hurstmans to Taper Off in Preparations Tonight; Faculty Manager Decker Announces Starting Time at 2:30.

Enviros of high school's new Patterson Field athletic plant will reverberate to the howls and clamor of a typical football crowd tomorrow afternoon as the Blue and White's new sunbaked gridiron, sleeked down almost to shiny hardness, is given its football baptism under the cleats of 22 young huskies of Cleveland Holy Name high school and the Ceramic City's "own."

The occasion will find the 1928 Blue and White football squad in action in the first home game of the season. The class and quality of the Clevelanders who will furnish opposition in the home lid-lifter, as well as the fact that the game will be the first on the new gridiron undoubtedly will combine to jam them in.

Each of the gridiron rivals has had one game. The Potters stepped into the big time of Ohio high school football to take on McKinley at Canton. Holy Name battled one of its home town rivals, Cleveland West, and was more fortunate than the locals, playing the West eleven to a scoreless tie. As a result, both elevens should be

MACKALL TO CALL 'EM, FEIT AT HALF

IN ALL likelihood, Mackall will call the signals. His halves will probably be Feit and Mills with Chetwyn at fullback. This quartet gives Hurst a 150-pound backfield which should be sufficient if the line comes through according to Hoyle.

Mackall is the heaviest of the four, tipping the beam at 160. Feit and Mills will hustle to make 141 and 142, but both are fast and elusive. Chetwyn will go 157.

In all probability "Red" Small, another promising ball totter, will see action tomorrow and perhaps others.

With Feit shifted into a backfield berth Harry McConville doubtlessly will be Hurst's choice at left end and with Clark at tackle and Dickey at guard making up the remainder of the left side of the line. Althar will

TOSS PASSES IN PRACTICE DRILLS

In scrimmage last night Hurst used Mackall, Feit, Mills and Chetwyn on the No. 1 squad with Witherow, Dalrymple, Waters, Althar, Dickey, Clark and Bennett on the forwards.

The second squad backs were Peters, Greenwood, English and Herbert, with Graff, Crawford, Smith, McConville, McCoy, Curry and Stanley on the line.

Forward pass plays figured considerably in the operations of the two squads.

Third and fourth teams also mixed it up for a half-hour or so.

Faculty Manager Decker today announced the starting time at 2:30.

Sam Richards of Grove City will referee with R. E. Russell of Webb academy as umpire. James A. Pugh, Penn., will be head linesman.

REGINALD DENNY HIT AT CERAMIC

One of the best real "gag" men in motion pictures is Reginald Denny. He proves it in "Good Morning, Judge," the Universal film in which he opened before an enthusiastic audience at the Ceramic theatre last night.

Denny's pictures usually have hundreds of new laugh situations, but his new production may be credited with having outdone the others. The audience responded heartily to the star's light and airy brand of humor and proved it by much audible appreciation.

William A. Seiter, who has directed most of Denny's big hits, wielded the megaphone on "Good Morning, Judge." This alone would make it a success, but the presence of an unusual story and blonde Mary Nolan in the leading feminine role helped to make it outstanding.

This time, the star is again seen as wealthy, young and handsome, but he tells the girl he loves that he is poor and a criminal in order to remain in the mission for homeless, reformed crooks, which she runs for pleasure and charity.

Some of the inmates forget they have been reformed and attempt to rob their benefactor and her guests. Denny prevents the theft after a terrific fight. The girl learns his real identity, but this only strengthens her love and the last scenes show them in each other's arms.

The supporting cast were all good. Dorothy Gulliver and Otis Harlan add to the comic situations with many funny incidents of their own. Bull Montana and Sailor Sharkey also provide plenty of humorous, as well as thrilling amusement. The rest of the company includes William Worthington, William Davidson and Charles Coleman. The titles are exceptionally funny.

"CIRCUS ROOKIES" COMEDY WINNER

"Circus Rookies," hilarious new appearance of Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, fun-famed heroes of "Rookies," opened today at the American theatre, to add materially to the sum total of laughs in this austere old world.

The comedy team was great in the training camp story and in "Baby Mine," but in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's hilarious romance of life with a circus they romp far and away from anything they have ever done.

The picture is unique for one thing. It is an intimate story of life on the "inside" of a circus, with thrills and hilarious comedy mixed up with a

"Pick 'Em Up and Lay 'Em Down"

That's advice of pretty Dorothy Stone, daughter of Fred Stone, comedian, as she rehearsed Will Rogers for her father's role in Broadway show. Fred crashed in his airplane while attempting a solo flight and the cowboy humorist volunteered to "pinch hit" for him until his nimble legs were all right again.

(International Illustrated News)

charming little romance between Arthur and Louise Lorraine, who plays the trapeze star. Dane plays an animal tamer chaperoning a giant gorilla, until the great beast becomes rebellious. Arthur is the dapper press agent, who incurs the enmity of the huge tamer of monkeys and thereby gets into a peck of trouble. Thrills before the target of a knife thrower, wild chases with the angry gorilla, a breathtaking trip to a trap-eze under the big top and a mad dash over the roofs of a careening circus train are among the highlights in the story.

From the opening to the final fade-out the picture moves with lightning speed, and comic adventures and thrills crowd each other to a breathless climax.

After living his entire life of 80 years in one house, the inn in which he was landlord, Jone Lane recently died at Freshwater, Isle of Wight.

Following his custom of naming race horses after successful plays he produces, Sir Alfred Butt, of England, has just named a colt Mary Dugan.

BOTANICAL GARDEN PLANTING BULBS IN NATURALISTIC WAY

NEW YORK.—"Naturalizing" is now the key to garden beauty in America, according to Mrs. Wheeler H. Packham, honorary curator of the narcissus and iris collections at the New York Botanical Garden.

About 100,000 of the small early bulbs such as crocuses, scillas, and grape hyacinths are to be planted in a naturalistic way at the Garden this fall under Mrs. Packham's direction, it is announced.

"During the nineteenth century," says Mrs. Packham, "a formal type of gardening, scornfully spoken of now as 'bedding out,' became the fashion. With the exception of shrubbery, plant-material was anything but permanent."

For Natural Effect.
"Quantities of plants were propagated and successions of planting were made, giving often a gorgeous effect, but the periods of transformation were ugly and unpleasant besides being expensive and needing a great deal of thought."

"Owing to the efforts of William Robinson, the styles have changed and the best gardens are now planned for continuous beauty, whether it is given by form, by flowers, fruit or foliage. Instead of taking a piece of country and making it over to suit an alien design, we now consider the natural resources, and our good gardening is planned with these for a foundation."

The aim, Mrs. Packham declares, is to give an effect of nature, and groupings are planned to produce it, in the flower-border or in the meadow. Discrimination and courage, she asserts, are the qualities needed for success in "naturalizing," the principles of which she describes as good design, logical choice of material, convenience, and color effect that is both beautiful and arresting.

"If one is willing to go slowly 'it is within the reach of anyone with land to plant, and so satisfying are the results that it would be well if more of us 'went wild'."

In Wild State.
"As for design, it will be necessary to study plants as they grow in the wild state. When driving through the countryside or when passing along it in trains, keep the eyes open. Then it will be noted that wild flowers grow in colonies and, while a certain plan may predominate in one meadow, usually the whole surface will not be given over to that particular variety."

"There will be 'drifts' of other plants interspersed, perhaps to bloom later and so carry on the flowering season. Soil, exposure and moisture control the type of plants of any special locality, so these matters should be considered before it is decided what to plant."

"Bulbous plants are very good subjects for natural plantings and varieties suitable for any conditions are available. Kinds may be found for meadows in full sun, for woodland in semi-shade, for dry, shady soils, peaty lands on the borders of marshes, dry locations under trees with spring sunshine, for edges of lawns, for lawns under trees, for corners in the country such as entrances of fields or stable-lanes and for many other patches of ground too often but a neglected opportunity."

German Tennis Circles Stirred Over Slap on Frau Aussem's Cheek

BERLIN.—A tennis stroke which created a sensation in German sport circles because it landed on the cheek of the mother of Fraulein Cilly Aussem, formerly woman tennis champion of Germany, will soon occupy the German courts.

Fraulein Aussem was twice defeated this year by Frau von Reznicek. This so enraged Fraulein Aussem's mother that she wrote a letter to Wilhelm Schomburgk, director of the German Tennis league, charging that Frau von Reznicek had hypnotized her daughter and that only in that way had she been able to win.

Frau von Reznicek heard of the letter and when she met the author at Hamburg match recently she demanded an apology. Frau Aussem refused. Thereupon Frau von Reznicek slapped her face.

The tennis authorities debarred Frau von Reznicek for six weeks, but she has appealed on the ground that she acted in defense of her honor. Frau Aussem has now charged Frau von Reznicek with "active insult." Frau von Reznicek has charged Frau Aussem with slander.

Bolivia's first mining congress was recently held at La Paz.

Lady Byng, wife of hero of Vimy Ridge, who was bequeathed fortune of $3,750,000 in the will of Pandeli Ralli, wealthy Greek merchant and a relative of hers. The deceased was romantic figure in British society, having been a friend of Edward VII and Lord Kitchener.

CROCODILE NEW VIENNA CRAZE

VIENNA.—The latest craze in Vienna "society" is the crocodile. A small alligator or a giant lizard are at the present the most favored pets of the fashionable lady. The price of snakes and crocodiles increased a hundred per cent, while there is a stagnation in the trade with dogs and cats, and even the exotic stars of last season, the monkeys, have a hard time to uphold their reputation and their prices.

Friends of the old-fashioned domestic animals are severely criticizing this "reptile-mania." A fashion paper answered to these protests, that "reptiles may be unreasonable, but at least they won't argue."

Make Darwin's Home Perpetual Memorial To Famous Scientist

LONDON.—The beautiful home in the county of Kent, England, in which Charles Darwin, the famous scientist and originator of the theory of man's descent from the ape, wrote most of his books, is to be made into a perpetual memorial.

Downe House, the residence in question, has been acquired by George Buckstone Brown, the surgeon, who has transformed it to the British Association of Scientists with an endowment sufficient for its upkeep.

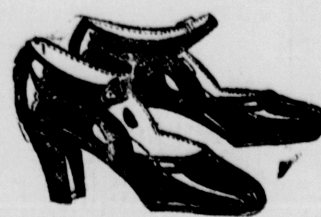

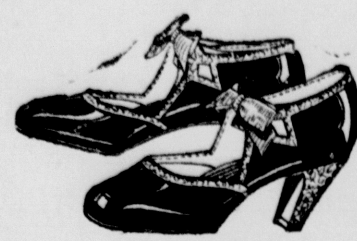

It is hoped to restore the rooms in which Darwin wrote "The Origin of the Species" and other of his famous works, to their original condition. Articles which belonged to Darwin have already been collected for this purpose.

The New Radiola Super-Heterodynes With A C Electric Operation

Greater Musical Range and Finer Fidelity of Tone
Than Ever Before Achieved in Any Radio

Performance

Amazing

Nearly half a million of the earlier models of the RCA Super-Heterodyne are now in use. For five years this wonderful receiver, with its unique super-selectivity and sensitivity, has challenged the engineers to improve it. And now they have.

Put one of the "60" series of Radiolas beside other receivers of the finest quality — tune them in alternately on the same program — and the ear at once detects the superiority of the new instrument. Finer fidelity of tone, greater musical range, more even reproduction over the scale.

The "60" series of Radiola Super-Heterodynes is especially designed to meet the demand for instruments of the finest reproducing quality FOR USE IN CONGESTED BROADCASTING AREAS OR AT REMOTE POINTS. They combine:

- 1.—The simplicity and dependability of operation of the nationally popular Radiola 18.
- 2.—The unrivalled selectivity and sensitivity of the earlier Super-Heterodyne.
- 3.—Tone and range beyond that of any receivers heretofore in use.
- 4.—New control features never before used.
- 5.—Beautiful cabinets selected by a special committee of artists and cabinet makers.

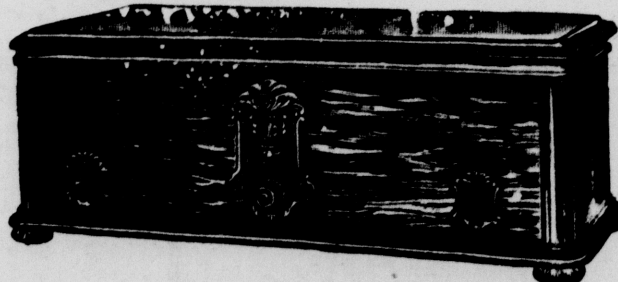

RCA RADIOLA 62—Cabinet model of the new RCA super-selective and sensitive Super-Heterodyne. The enclosed Dynamic Speaker is an improved model of the incomparable RCA Reproducer, finest of all radio reproducing instruments. Superior fidelity of reproduction over the entire musical range never before achieved in radio. Illuminated single dial. Beautiful cabinet of walnut veneer with maple inlay, and ingeniously arranged doors.

RCA RADIOLA 64—De Luxe cabinet model of the new RCA Super-Heterodyne with the improved RCA Dynamic Speaker. Incorporates new features never before used in broadcast receivers. Special new automatic volume control bringing in weak and strong stations at any desired even degree of loudness, without further readjustment. New needle meter for accurate tuning. Special high-powered output Radiatron for volume. Amazing fidelity of reproduction hitherto unrealized in radio. This wonderful instrument is enclosed in a finely finished cabinet of rich design.

BRITISH R-101 BIG HOTEL FOR TRAVEL BY AIR

Ends Fight Between
State and Private Enterprise.

WILL CARRY 100

Ship Has Lounge;
Promenades and Dining Room.

CARDINGTON, Eng.—A huge aerial hotel, 724 feet long and 131 feet in diameter, is the best description of the airship R-101, just being completed here for the British government.
Its completion will end one of the most remarkable struggles ever seen between state and private enterprise.
Four years ago the British government assented to the construction of two airships, both of which were to be twice the size of any previously built. An order for one was given to the Royal Air Force, and the other was to be built by the Burney Airship Guarantee company. A level start was made under conditions of the greatest secrecy, and both are now nearing completion.

Differs From Zeppelin.
The R-101 represents the effort of the Royal Air Force, and the most remarkable feature of it is a radical breakaway from the Zeppelin method of lattice-work construction. It is contended that its method of duralumin girders and special joints provide enormously increased strength.
Many novelties of design have been introduced. One of the most interesting consists of a reserve fuel supply that is run into special pressure tanks from which it can be blown by compressed air to any part of the ship.
The ship has been built to carry 100 passengers between England and India at a minimum speed of 60 miles an hour under conditions of luxury similar to those of a first-class hotel.
Inside its huge hull the passengers will be accommodated on a deck in the center of the craft which has an area of over 5,000 square feet, under which will be a lower deck with an area of 1,730 square feet, which, if necessary, could be increased to 4,000 square feet. This lower deck will be used by the crew and the upper deck will be fitted out for passenger accommodation.
Big Dining Room.
It will have a large lounge with promenades on either side and inside the envelope, which will be fitted with windows. There will be a separ-

"Wear Black and Keep 'Em Guessing"

"Love is the dessert in the meal of life—as light as a souffle, and you can't live on souffles." That's one of the points made by Peggy Hopkins Joyce in advising her sisters concerning the game of love. Another hint from the much-married Peggy is, "Just keep them wondering; it is better to have illusions than a shattered romance." She tells the girls to wear black as much as possible, and, in the matter of makeup, "gild the lily, but don't make it glier."

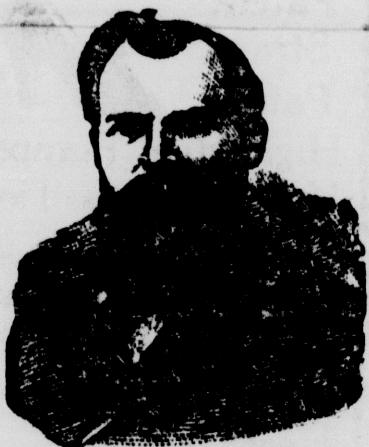

(International Newsreel)

ate dining room capable of seating 50 persons, a number of two-berthed sleeping cabins, and a smoking room.
Below there will be a kitchen with electrical appliances for cooking food which will be brought up to the dining room in a lift. Special ventilation apparatus will control the temperature, and a large radiator fed from two of the ship's engines, will warm the air when necessary. 16 gasbags will hold nearly 5,000,000 cubic feet of hydrogen.
The airship will carry 37 tons of fuel, giving a cruising range of 4,000 miles. The fuel is not gasoline, but heavy oil which is less inflammable and the five engines are 650 h. p.
Diesel type.

Pilgrims Streaming To Buddhist Temple; Miracle Reported

PEKING.—Moved by a report that a miracle has taken place there, thousands of pilgrims daily are streaming out of Peking and from neighboring places to the Buddhist temple in the Pagoda of Falichuang, just outside the walls of the city.

The temple contains an image of the sitting Buddha, and the statement has been circulated that it has risen to its feet and stood upright.

Since foreigners are strictly prohibited from entering the temple, no confirmation can be obtained of the report.

American Couple Use Twin Planes to Cut Down Risk in Travel

PARIS.—Twin beds set one style in domestic relations. Here's a new one—twin airplanes!
Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Seigle, of New York, believe in twin airplanes. They flew down to Havre to say "bon voyage" to departing friends and returned via the air to Paris, traveling "together" in separate planes.
Mr. Seigle, who is vice-president of the Johns-Manville Corporation, explained why. "Although I believe airplane travel is safe it does not seem foolhardy for a man and his wife to run even a minimum risk when there is a family."
"We have five children. By traveling in separate planes, Mrs. Seigle and I undoubtedly cut down the risk fifty per cent. We cover many airlines but never in a single craft—all ways twin planes."

Mother of Nine Gets Suspended Sentence On Liquor Charge

DENVER.—Mrs. Mary Mostriana, 42, of Lafayette, Colo., was found guilty of having liquor in her possession and of selling it. She was charged on four counts of an indictment, but when the judge, Federal Judge George T. McDermott of Topeka, Kan., sitting in the United States district court here, learned that she was the mother of nine children, between the ages of 2 and 17 years, he asked her attorney what sentence should be passed on the violator. The attorney recommended that she be placed on probation for one year. This the judge did.

The violation occurred last January, according to the mother's attorney, O. Otto Moore, during the time that Mrs. Mostriana's husband was away and out of work. He has been employed at a coal mine.

"Mrs. Mostriana had no money with which to buy food for her children. So to get money she sold three pints of liquor to prohibition agents who posed as insurance salesmen," Moore said.

You may have thought that you and your family could tell the difference. If the Challenge Flavor Test shows that you are mistaken, then you have been missing a wonderful opportunity to save money. Make the test today. Let your family decide.

ONE of the many representative groups of people who have made the famous Challenge Flavor Test is Hoot Gibson, idol of Young America, and the entire cast appearing in Universal's new masterpiece "The King of the Rodeo."

Two slices of bread, one spread with GOOD LUCK and the other with the most expensive spread-for-bread, were tasted and judged by the twenty-nine players. The entire company then was polled with the question, "Which is which?"

TWENTY-FOUR confessed themselves unable to answer —could not distinguish one from the other. The other five tried to guess and three guesses were wrong.

Dr. J. M. Tracey Dead; Gave 160,000 Lessons And 700 Concerts

DENVER.—Dr. James Madison Tracey, for many years one of the outstanding musicians of the nation, died here recently from an attack caused by complication of diseases and age. He was 89 years old.

Dr. Tracey was the last pupil who studied under the great master, Frank Liszt. The story was often told how he gained with great difficulty admittance to a class taught by Liszt when he was an unknown American, journeyed to Weimar to study his art. After a number of lessons, however, Tracey became one of Liszt's favored pupils and was given an opportunity to play in several concerts.

It is estimated that Tracey, since the time when he was a student, had given 160,000 music lessons, had appeared in more than 700 concerts and had given more than 700 lectures in all parts of the country.

Because it fries
so crispy and sweet

SUGARDALE BACON is Cured dry.

That's what makes it so different—so much sweeter and tastier—than ordinary bacon.

That's why it fries to a crispy golden brown without the annoying sputtering and spattering of wet-cured bacons.

Paris Undertakers Offer Class Funerals Like Railway Tickets

PARIS.—Undertakers are ready to make arrangements for first, second, and third class funerals just as railroad companies book first, second and third class traveling accommodations. Funerals can only be booked according to class and because of this protests have arisen. In some cases it is preferred to give the deceased a luxurious coffin and a modest ceremony. This is no longer possible.

A mahogany coffin can only repose on a hearse of which the black is trimmed with silver fringe. The facing on the driver's costume, the church draperies and the caparisoning of the horses also must bear the silver border. This is a first-class funeral. If the trimmings can not be afforded a plain pine box must be accepted. Undertakers believe the ensemble of funerals under the class system will be more harmonious.

Following the recent discovery of beds oozing petroleum near Namur, scientists believe that Belgium possesses oil fields.

Moth Catching Season Keeps Peasants Busy In Saone River Area

PARIS.—This is the time for catching moths in the Saone river valley and the peasants are very busy. The odd industry is perhaps one of the most simple and yet one of the most lucrative ones in France. No tools or machinery are required and very little time.

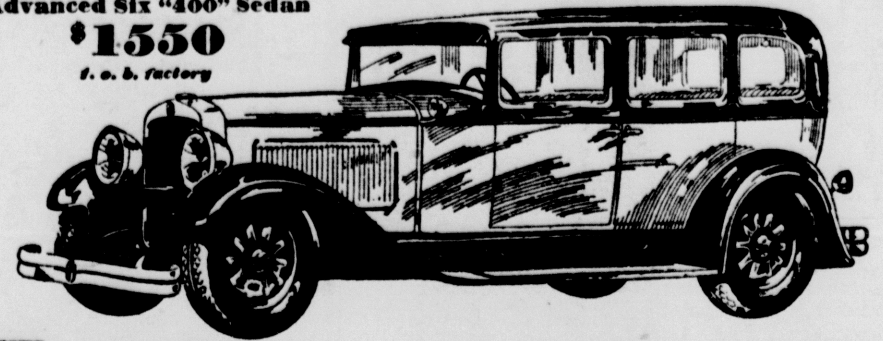

During the hot months, great numbers of frail white moths are born in the morning and die at night. The peasants go down to the banks of the river every morning with great sheets and oil lamps. They spread the white sheets on the banks and wait for the moths to gather under the lamps. At times they come in great white clouds, tremble about the lights for a moment and die, the females laying their eggs.

The harvest is finished about eleven o'clock and the sheets are gathered together. In the morning the dead insects are dried in the sun and then made up into fine food for game. English pheasants are particularly fond of this moth delicacy prepared by French peasant and England has proved to be a good customer.

"Leunawerke," the world's largest airtight nitrogen fixation plant located 80 miles south of Berlin, Germany, is consuming nearly 20,000 tons of lignite or brown-coal daily in connection with the ammonia synthesis and as raw material in its "oil from coal" experiments.

Valuable Tapestries Missing From Old Fontainebleau Palace

PARIS.—Fifty celebrated pieces of tapestry, worth thousands of dollars, are said to be missing from the old palace of Fontainebleau, near Paris, and causing not a little stir among certain French circles.

The Administration of the Beaux Arts affairs that they are well aware of their disappearance and they have only been removed temporarily.

"Well and good," answers Maximilien Gauthier writing in 'La Rumeur,' "but how many years does 'temporary' mean? They have been gone for years and years and nobody seems to know where they are.

"Have they been sold to some rich American? Have they been stolen or temporarily borrowed? A quick inventory should be made and the 50 tapestries produced!"

Stop Using a Truss

Free Demonstration

Stuart's Plapao-Pads are different from the truss, being mechano-chemical applicators made self-adhesive purposely to hold to the distended muscles. No straps, buckles or springs attached—cannot slip, so cannot chafe or press against the public bone. During 22 years thousands have successfully treated themselves at home—without hindrance from work—most obstinate cases conquered. Soft as velvet—easy to apply— inexpensive. Awarded Gold Medal, Rome; Grand Prix, Paris and Honorable Mention, San Francisco. Process of recovery is natural, so is subsequent use for truss.

It Never Pays

Romance in New York

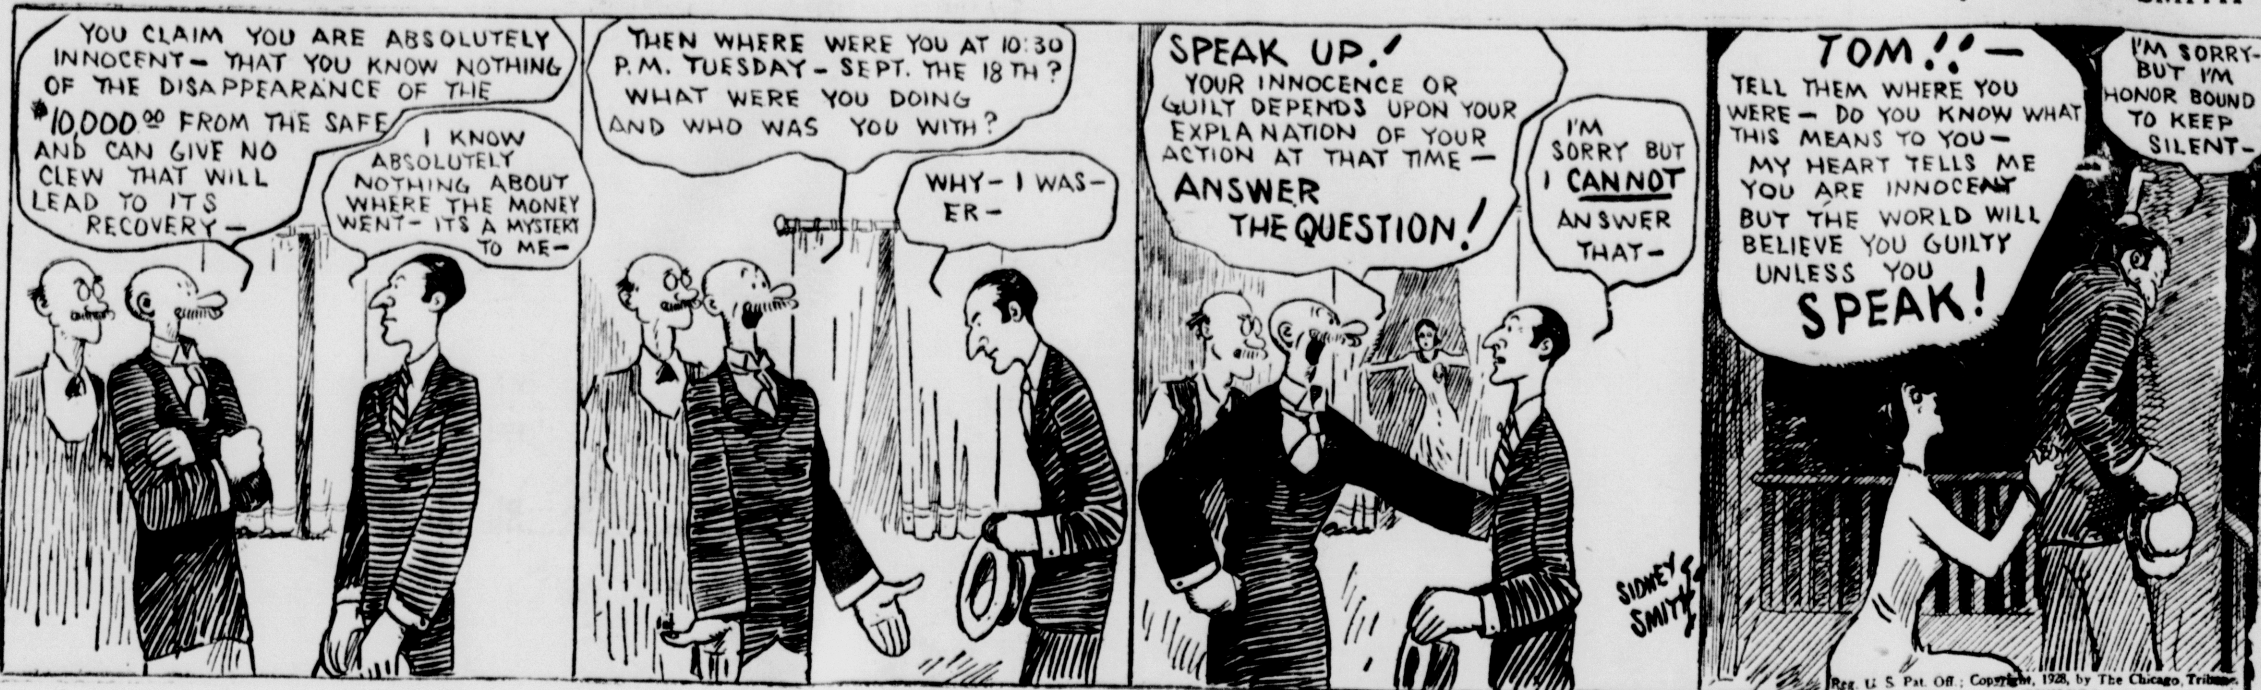

By GILBERT ROGERS

"I—I just don't."
"Suppose I told you I didn't care whether you did or not?"
"Oh!" Sally felt her self-control deserting her. What right had he to badger her like this? Badgering women, taking advantage of people who couldn't fight back. She struggled helplessly to tell him what she thought, to tell him how she detested him. But couldn't. She could do nothing.
"Well, what about it?"
She couldn't stand it any longer. "I tell you, I won't," she cried, her voice breaking now. "You're—you ask too much. I did what you said. And—and I'm not going to see him again. He's—why you don't know what I know about him."
"Oh? What do you know that I don't?" He was looking at her with sharp interest now.
Confused, unhappy, anxious to escape, Sally poured out what Jerry had told her about Adrian Martin.
"He—he even killed a man once. In South America. It was. I know it. I—he makes me afraid."
"What! Killed a man... killed? Tell me more. Where was this South America? When? When did it happen? Come on now!"
"Dan, don't!" Carlotta had stirred in her chair with a little frightened movement.
"When did it happen?" he repeated.
"Last year, I think. I don't know."
He flung question after question at her, sharp quick questions that went to the root of the story, and pressed on every side, she told the little she knew, only leaving out Jerry's name.
Then Shevlin leaned back, smiling broadly. He snapped his fingers with sudden cheerfulness.
"On the whole," he drawled, "you may be right. I don't suppose I should ask you to try to marry a man who's done a thing like that. It wouldn't be... fair."
His eyes went to Carlotta. She sat like a woman turned to stone, with something anguished in her face and bearing.
Sally stared. Her puzzled mind tried to understand. She felt that she was only a step away from under standing everything.

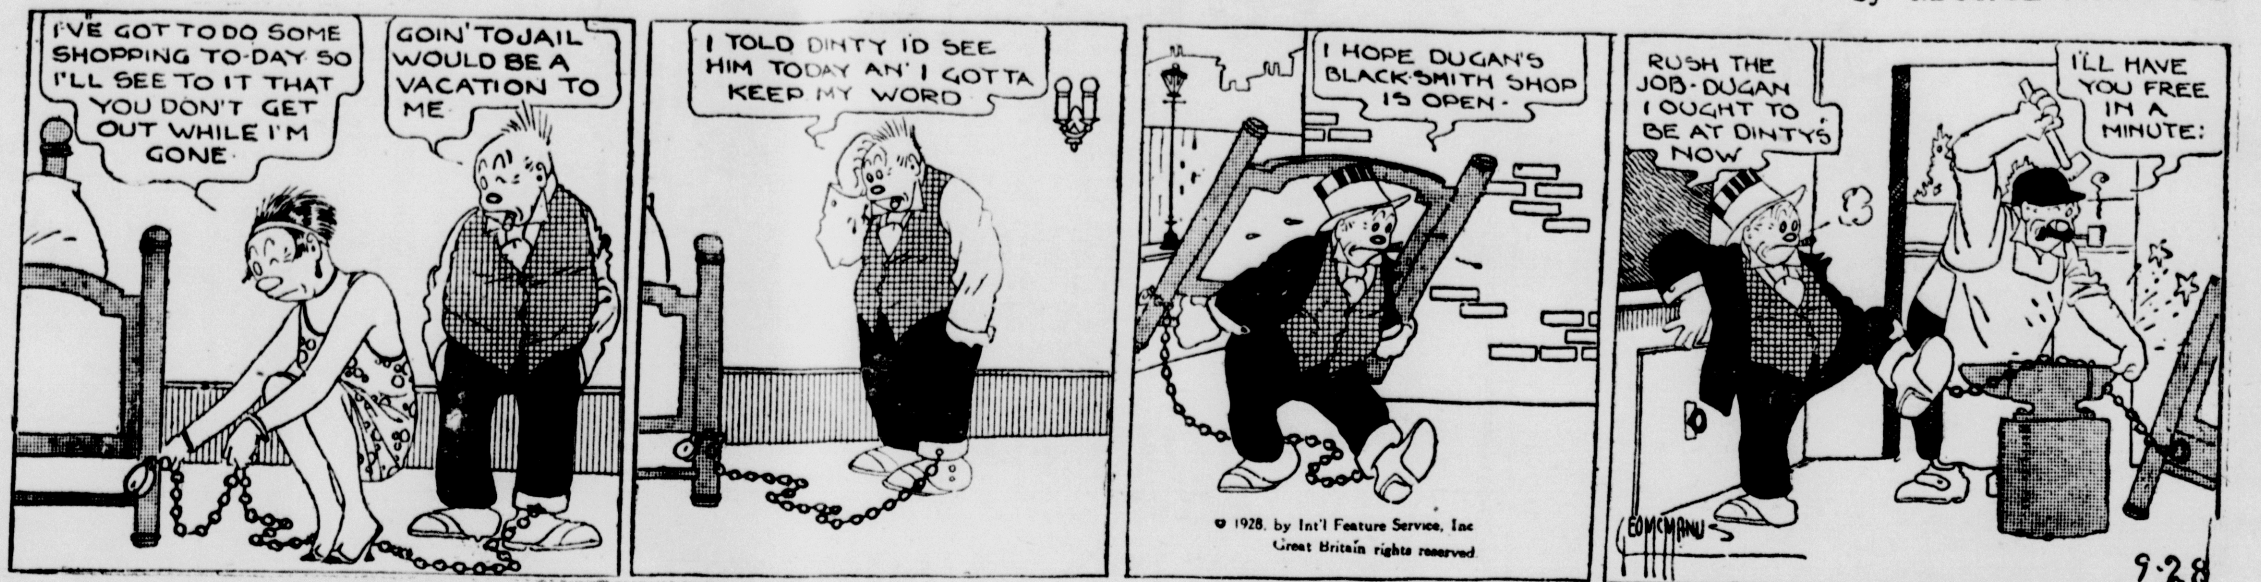

CHAPTER 24.

The dinner table again—the dinner table with its soft candle-light, its delicate English china—its antique silver service.
And Carlotta sitting quiet, biting her lip, thinking hidden thoughts. Sally, silent, too, wondering. But Dan Shevlin talked for both, a constant stream of dry crackling phrases that would have been funny if they had not also been cruel.
Sally had never seen him so gay, in such high spirits. But there was something nervous in him, as if he, too were planning...
It had been a long day. Sally was tired. Besides they did not want her around. She murmured something about going up to bed and reading.
Half-way up the stairs, she halted and came back for a book. Shevlin was over at the writing-desk, opening a drawer. Mrs. Brooke was watching him speechlessly. He took something from the drawer.
Sally gave a little stare. He had taken out a black automatic revolver, and was filling the clip with cartridges. She backed away, stole noiselessly up the stairs again. A low murmur of words floated mysteriously to her ears.
"Dan... don't. I'm afraid. Adrian Martin—won't stand for anything. I tell you I know what he's like..."
A heavy laugh was followed by something muttered, something that had a boastful ring. Then the slam of the front door, and a deathly silence.
Sally stood in the center of her room, not moving. Scraps of phrases, little, unexplained incidents, things seen and heard and felt—they all came crowding into her mind now.
Dan Shevlin loading an automatic—Carlotta's terror—this mention again of Adrian Martin—what did it all mean?
Suddenly, so clearly and vividly that she wondered she had not guessed before, Sally read the riddle. Her mind darted back. In a flash she saw everything—everything! Why it was that Shevlin had been eager to learn that Tubby Wells was already married against his mother's wishes. Why he had been so eager to hear the details of Adrian Martin's secret. Secrets—they were his business—the secrets of person well connected, rich, influential. Blackmail!
Sally walked nervously up and down. She had no proof, no real proof, and yet she wanted none. A hundred little things pointed it out. Tubby Wells' changed attitude towards her—she understood now. He believed her only an accomplice of Shevlin's, forgetting out secrets through her personal charms, and betraying confidences. An accomplice—she had been one without knowing it. No wonder Shevlin had been cheerful tonight when she had told him about Adrian Martin. She saw now why he hadn't pressed her to continue her intimacy with Martin, why he had loaded the automatic. She was trembling. She couldn't keep still. What was she to do? Tell Shevlin, of course, tell him she knew. And Mrs. Brooke—Mrs. Brooke who was really an accomplice—what about her?
Sally marched from the room on an impulse, hurried down stairs. Carlotta was sitting at the window, not moving.
"Oh, I thought you'd gone to bed." A flat, monotonous voice, the voice of someone undergoing a strain.
"I meant to—but I... I want to talk to you."
"About what?"
"I've just found out," said Sally simply. "found out what's been happening."
"What do you mean?" Mrs. Brooke's glance was quick a... a little afraid.
"Oh—about Dan Shevlin—I've found out he—he blackmails people."
A long pause, then an intake of breath. "My dear child, what... earth are you talking about? Have you been reading too many detective stories?"
"Please. Please don't treat me like a fool. I—I really know."
Mrs. Brooke searched her face, met her eyes, and her own face was heavy and tired. With a little gesture she seemed to admit everything.
"Well... you had to know... sooner or later."
"But you—"
"Oh, I'm with him, too, all the way!" She spoke almost defiantly. "Since you want to know everything, I may as well tell you."
"But I don't understand—I don't see how you—"
Mrs. Brooke put up her hand. "Don't! Don't talk to me like that," she said tremulously. "It isn't my fault. I told him some things I happened to know long ago. He used them. Then I found out, too. I tried to stop him, but he's bad, bad all the way through. Then you came along and you told him about Tubby Wells. He got a lot of money out of Wells—and has lost it already in speculation. He's a madman when it comes to gambling. He'll gamble on anything. And now it's Adrian Martin, and I'm afraid. This can't go on forever. Sometimes I see people looking at me, and I wonder if they know. It's ghastly, ghastly! I keep smiling, but all the time I'm frightened. I'm frightened about what may happen. Now you know, now you know!"
Sally sank into a chair. It was a kind of degradation she was witnessing, she felt. Someone fine, with fine impulses, turned into an enemy of society. And turned through love—love that could make people good, and could make them bad, too.
She had a sudden, clear picture of the whole thing. Mrs. Brooke, well-connected, with a secure place in the social world, meeting a gambler on the Riviera, finding herself unable to resist him, losing her money to him, being drawn bit by bit into the shoddy practices by which he lived. It was pitiful.
But she couldn't say: "This can't go on. You've got to get away from him, or send him away." Not to anyone who was in love as Mrs. Brooke was in love. Mrs. Brooke who no longer had any will of her own.
Then suddenly Mrs. Brooke began to sob. She got up unsteadily. Sally moved toward her.

Joseph F. and Lillian Woerther, Salem, File Action as Aftermath of Dice Game in 1927.

LISBON, O., Sept. 28.—Cancellation of a mortgage and the surrender of a note for $1,450 given in payment for a gambling debt is sought in a petition filed in common pleas court by Joseph F. and Lillian Woerther of Salem against the Coply Motors Co., of Canton and George Neago.

The petition shows that on September 13, 1927 Joseph Woerther engaged in a game of "dice" with the George Neago, and that Woerther lost $1,600. He then paid $150 in cash to Neago and the following day executed his note in favor of Neago for $1,450. This note was for one year and was due Sept. 19, last.

Mrs. Woerther signed a mortgage on the representation that her husband was to satisfy an account for merchandise. Neago later assigned the note to the Coply Motors company, without recourse as partial payment for an automobile. The court is now asked to have the note surrendered and the mortgage cancelled.

The petition for the plaintiff was filed by Attorney H. H. Hickling of Salem.

A motion to the petition in the $15,000 damage case of Floda D. Smith against the Columbiana County Agricultural society has been sustained in common pleas court.

Judgment by confession has been entered in favor of the plaintiff, in the case of the Kensington Supply company against Charles F. Frederick and others. The amount sued for was $281.38 and costs.

An order of sale has issued in the partition case of Harvey M. Sharp against Eva Shaffer and others.

A jury in the foreclosure case of The Winland Brothers' Lumber company, of East Liverpool against Sarah McNutt, one in foreclosure and for money, has returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

Two Cases Settled.

Insurance Claim Adjusted.

Without going to trial, there was a settlement made in the $12,000 suit of Felix Anania of East Liverpool against the Maryland Motor Car Insurance company, for failure to pay an insurance claim. The costs in the action went against the defendant interest.

Action to Recover $500 Dismissed.

In the case of Jennie Buxton and William K. Buxton against Willah Boone to recover $500 claimed to be due on a note, the action has been dismissed by the plaintiffs at their cost.

A similar entry has been made in the case of J. E. Hobbs against Paul Kovich, in which the plaintiff sought to recover $330 claimed due on a note for commission for the sale of property.

Sustains Motion in Damage Case.

The first ground of a motion in the $25,000 damage action filed by Gertrude Eckstein against Thomas J. McNicol, of Salem, has been sustained by the court, and the plaintiff is now required to make the allegations more definite.

Seeks to Cancel Mortgage.

A mortgage to secure a note for $400 given by Michael M. Moran to Phoebe Stooksberry, July 31, 1873, is sought to be cancelled and title to property quieted in a petition filed by Samuel Mackintosh against the Salem Building & Loan association and the heirs of Phoebe Stooksberry. The plaintiff is now in possession of lot 126 in Tolerton & Kidd addition, Salem.

Alimony Order Entered.

Temporary alimony of $50 to be paid the plaintiff within 30 days has been ordered in the divorce action recently filed in common pleas by Sadie L. Alton against her husband, William E. Alton. The court has also ordered the defendant to pay his wife $10 a week for the support of herself and a minor child during the pendency of the suit.
